WELCOME

SPEED-e is increasingly becoming an important medium for information and conducting business. Enabling through Internet thus becomes essential as a means for flexibility and convenience to clients and further efficiency of settlement of trades in the capital market. Safety or transactions is however, a very crucial issue in Internet based solutions. This assumes significance in case of depository transactions since it involves movement of high-value financial assets across accounts. Further, depository transactions are also time critical. The lapse or failure to deliver the securities in time
