Nifty Spot Chart

Technical Outlook

For the fourth consecutive day, Nifty Index continued to trade on positive note and in the early hours it opened the session at 10614 and thereafter it remained in subdued range and finally ended the day at 10607 with 0.53% gains. In line with expectation in the previous day's report, Nifty Index witnessed resistance around swing low levels of 10637 and halted its up move at the same. Hence, going forward we expect (10637 - 10650) range will continue to act as stiff resistance and surpass above that will provide sharp extension till 10820 and higher. While on the lower side 61.8% retracement level of the previous fall of 10550 will act as immediate support and below that next level is placed at 10330. Asian peers started the week with massive bounce and SGX Nifty is also up by 120 points indicating of strong opening of domestic indices. Thus we could see Nifty opening above resistance level of 10650 mark.

Bank Nifty Spot Chart

Technical Outlook

Despite of major domestic index moving on firm note, Nifty Bank Index continue to underperform and on Friday it started the session on strong note at 22101, but it slowly erased all its gains and finally settled at 21582 with 0.46% losses. On technical front, Nifty Bank index has once again come down till the swing high levels of 21800 and key supports of rising trend line placed at 21500 as long as it holds above that the optimism is likely to remain intact. The momentum indicators RSI (14) continued to hover in a sideways range, whereas stochastic oscillator remains on firm note indicating bullish signs. Thus looking at above analysis, trend looks to be remain firm and therefore we expect Nifty Bank index could continue to move upward with slow pace towards 22500 and higher.
