- Domestic GDP outlook supports rail and process sector growth; global risks (esp. US economy).

Pricing

- Favorable demand conditions support pricing power; margins remain stable aided by cost controls.

Product Development

- One CRB line at Bharuch has commenced commercial production and billing.
- Plain bearing production line is under development for next year.
- Railway bearing capacity expansion (CTRBs) is ongoing at Jamshedpur.

View

The business fundamentals remain strong, driven by: (1) solid market share in rail, (2) growth in wind, cement, steel, and renewables, and (3) stable export share of ~25-30% long-term. The commissioning of Bharuch plant's is expected to boost revenue, margins, and create new opportunities in both domestic and export markets for CRB & SRB. Targeted capacity utilization is 45% by FY26-end, with a 50:50 domestic-export mix. Since it also has a sharp focus on exports owing to its strong parentage and expects it to contribute 25-30% to the top line. Import substitution and focus on localisation shall open the doors to newer industries. Earnings growth shall continue to remain robust on the back of higher industrialisation and a strong domestic demand. Hence, we continue to view it as ACCUMULATE stock trading at P/E 36.9x below its 5-year average P/E 61.7x.
