Technical Outlook

Nifty (24,211.00): Bullish Bias Maintained Above 24,000

Nifty 50 ended the session marginally higher, gaining 4.10 points after recovering nearly 200 points from the day's low, reflecting strong buying interest at lower levels. IT, Media, and Auto were the top-performing sectors.

Technically, the index has once again found support near the 23,800-demand zone and closed above its short-term moving averages, forming a bullish candlestick. A decisive move above 24,300 (last Wednesday's high) is likely to trigger short covering and accelerate bullish momentum.

We maintain a bullish outlook, with immediate support shifting higher to 24,000. If the index holds above this level, the broader positive trend is expected to remain intact.

Bank Nifty (58,131.45): Breakout Setup Targets 60,000

Bank Nifty continued to display resilience, ending the session 85.55 points higher at 58,131.45. Market breadth remained balanced, while AU Small Finance Bank, HDFC Bank, and Yes Bank witnessed mild selling pressure.

Technically, the index continues to exhibit strength and is approaching a decisive breakout above the 58,500 level. The moving averages and momentum oscillators remain positively aligned, indicating the formation of a bullish flag breakout.

We maintain a positive outlook on the index, with 57,000 emerging as the key support level. A sustained breakout above 58,500 is likely to accelerate momentum and could drive the index towards the 60,000 mark in the coming sessions.
