NIFTY (24,837)

Weekly Technical View

The benchmark Nifty continued its losing streak for the fourth straight session. It started the week on a positive note, opening with a gain of 31 points; however, it kept making new lows throughout the week and closed the session with a cut of 131 points. Eternals Ltd, ICICI Bank Ltd, and Cipla Ltd were the top index gainers, while Nestle India Ltd, Trent Ltd, and Reliance Industries Ltd were the top losers. On the technical front, Nifty has already entered a downtrend on the daily chart. On the weekly chart, it has shown early signs of weakness after yesterday's close. It has broken below the 10-day EMA on the weekly chart, indicating a weakening of momentum. Additionally, a trendline breakdown confirms the loss of underlying strength. The weekly close suggests a muted start for the coming week. Currently, resistance is placed at 25,000–25,150, while support lies within 24,750–24,600. Since the overall trend is weak on the daily chart and is showing signs of weakness on the weekly chart, traders are advised to adopt a sell-on-rallies strategy. If the market continues falling without any meaningful bounce in Monday's session, traders can look to buy Nifty around the 24,750–24,600 levels for a target of 24,900–25,000–25,100. If Nifty attempts a relief rally, it can be sold near 25,100–25,150 for a downside target of 24,750–24,600.

BANKNIFTY (56,528)

Weekly Technical View

Bank Nifty was volatile last week. It opened 275 points higher, rallied 728 points, and closed the week after giving up most of its gains. ICICI Bank Ltd and HDFC Bank Ltd were the only gainers in the index, while AU Small Finance Bank Ltd, IndusInd Bank Ltd, and Punjab National Bank were the top losers. On the technical front, Bank Nifty has weakened on the daily chart; however, it is still holding strong on the weekly chart. It found good support at the 10-day EMA on the weekly chart and has formed a Bullish Harami Cross pattern — a potential sign of reversal. However, it is also seen breaching its trendline on both the daily and weekly charts, indicating a weakening of momentum. On the daily chart, there is no clear trend at the moment. Since the overall trend is unclear, it is advisable to take cues from intraday movements for now. Immediate support is placed at 56,250–56,150, and resistance is seen around 56,900. Traders are advised to monitor intraday signals closely to position their trades accordingly.
