Daily Commodity Trend

30 Oct 2026

MCX Gold (1,42,600): Daily trend remains negative.

MCX Gold closed negative in the previous session and continues to face selling pressure at higher levels. The 10-DEMA line is consistently acting as a supply zone, reinforcing the prevailing bearish trend. Sustained selling pressure could drag prices towards the support zone, making a sell-on-rallies strategy preferable.

For the day, the outlook remains negative, with support placed in the 141300–139800 zone and resistance at 144350. Continued weakness could push prices towards the support zone, while any recovery is likely to face resistance near the 10-DEMA line. The outlook will require a review on sustained strength above 144700.

MCX Silver (1,89,450): Forms a new lower low.

MCX Silver closed negative last week, forming a bearish candlestick and registering a fresh lower low on the charts. The daily trend remains bearish, with momentum turning extremely negative and rallies facing strong supply pressure at higher levels. The breakdown in price structure reinforces the prevailing weakness. Traders are advised to maintain a sell-on-rallies strategy.

For the day, the outlook remains negative, with support placed in the 186500–175850 zone and resistance at 202600. Sustained selling pressure could drag prices towards the lower support zone, while any recovery is likely to encounter selling pressure near resistance. The outlook will require a review on a sustained move above 197400.

MCX Crude Oil (9,709): Daily momentum positive.

MCX Crude Oil closed negative in the previous session but formed a bullish hammer candlestick, with the 10-DEMA continuing to act as a key support. The daily trend and momentum remain positive, while 9850 continues to act as a near-term resistance. Sustained strength above this level could invite fresh buying interest. Traders may consider buying on dips near 9500, targeting 9850–10000, with a stop-loss at 9300.

For the day, the outlook remains positive, with support at 9500 and resistance in the 9600–10200 zone. A sustained move above 9850 could support further upside, while a breakdown below support may weaken the bullish setup. The outlook will require a review on sustained weakness below 9350.
